

Europe's future after the coronavirus

A joint webinar organized by Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung

Date: 25 June 2020, 16:00-17:00

Venue: online event – Zoom

Language: Hungarian (with English interpretation)

The coronavirus will inevitably change Europe, the history of the world and its political system. The question is whether the epidemic will change it for the better or for worse. Will it be the right-wing populist, the greens or the progressives who emerge stronger after the crisis? The answer is currently unknown: different scenarios are being played out in different countries, the future is not set in stone, and today's political decisions are transforming our fate. What will our future look like? Are we going to turn inside? Are we going to open up? These are all questions we will discuss with our experts.

16:00-16:10 Opening

Beate Martin / Jörg Bergstermann, Friedrich-Ebert-Stiftung
Péter Krekó, Political Capital

16:10-16:20 After the coronavirus – expected answers, reactions, outlooks

Péter Krekó – director, Political Capital

16:20-17:00 What is awaiting us after the virus?

Zoltán Lakner – political analyst, editor-in-chief of the weekly Jelen
Zsófia Nagy – social scientist, ELTE TáTK

Moderator: Krisztina Bombera

Registration is required for participation in the event. Please register on the following link:
https://us02web.zoom.us/webinar/register/WN_BJYe8cIYSv2EzksrxKDzOQ